

The EPIC Participant Advisory Panel met online on Monday 11 July 2022. There were eleven participants and two researchers in attendance. One participant sent their apology for not being able to attend.

Welcomes

This meeting marks the first face to face meeting since the pandemic. We are also joined by members of the panel on zoom. This year marks the 12th year anniversary of the panel, as the panel were unable to celebrate the 10th anniversary of the panel due to the pandemic, the panel marked this milestone with a celebratory cake.

1. Talk from PhD student Julia Carrasco-Zanini-Sanchez

Julia is a PhD student on the Wellcome Trust 4-year Programme in Metabolic and Cardiovascular Disease, working under the supervision of Dr Claudia Langenberg and Dr Maik Pietzner. Her research focuses on the use of multi-omics, and specifically proteomics, to identify mechanisms causing type 2 diabetes and to develop prediction models for disease outcomes. Julia gave a very engaging talk about “Plasma proteomics to predict the risk of future diseases”

Review of the "EPIC-Norfolk Newsletter Summer 2022"

The panel reviewed Summer 2022 newsletter for participants. NK took an updated photo of the panel to include in the newsletter and EPIC-Norfolk website.

The next meeting will be held online on Monday 31st October 2022
